the art piece was created in Aidan's Graphic Design class in high school. The image was created in Photoshop by using overlays and blending techniques of stock images in order to create one cohesive art piece. The art piece features a man in a fishing boat tethered to an island on the head of a giant squid. On the far right end of the picture a shark emerges from the water, creating a splash like affect as it emerges. The background has a flock of birds flying off into the distance and a massive moon secluded behind the clouds This image is free for commercial use and adaptation as stated below.
